A blue ink drawing of a complex knot or link diagram. The drawing consists of several loops and crossings. A vertical line segment extends upwards from the bottom right. From the top of this segment, a loop descends and then turns back upwards, crossing over itself. This forms a triangular shape at the top left. Below this, another loop originates from the left side, goes up and over, then down and under, creating a more complex crossing pattern. The entire diagram is composed of continuous blue lines.
